Improvements in area of YMCA are discussed

Architect John McLane and landscape planner Walt Lohse met Thursday with Dixon YMCA officials to begin planning for the improvement of the area just south of the "Y" building.

Upon successful completion of the "Y" effort to raise $340,000, the two buildings will be leveled and the area landscaped to improve the appearance of the river area and to make the "Y" more visible.

Drive plans also call for completion of the financing of the current building, additional parking areas and additional operating funds to put the "Y" on a sound financial basis.

Paul Berrettini, general chairman of the effort, reports that results have been excellent, with more than $225,000 pledged to date. Persons interested in assisting the "Y" in this effort are encouraged to contact the general director, Jim Greenlee, at the YMCA.

Many churches to worship at sunrise

As the sun rises Sunday morning, Christians in Dixon and the surrounding communities will be preparing to celebrate Easter, the most glorious of the religious holidays.

Sunrise services have been scheduled by many of the congregations as the Resurrection of Jesus Christ is celebrated around the world.

Sunrise service at Immanuel Lutheran Church will be at 6:30 a.m. The sermon by Pastor Lee Luebke will be entitled "What a Way to Live," Part I, based on Luke 24:1-11.

Immediately following, at 7:30 a.m., the Luther League and its sponsors will hold a fellowship breakfast for all members and guests in the Fellowship Hall.

A special Easter program at 8:45 a.m. will be presented by the Sunday School and regular morning worship service is at 10 a.m. Pastor Luebke will also preach the sermon at this service, which will be "What a Way to Live," Part II.

The senior choir, directed and accompanied by Mrs. Vance Hopper, will sing "An Easter Chant." The junior choir directed by Mrs. Robert Knick, accompanied by Mrs. Victor Potts, will sing "Lilies."

The organist, Miss Cora Schaefer, and pianist, Mrs. Ted Maves, will accompany the instrumental ensemble of Brad Gerdes, Norman Knick, Barbara Osenberg, and Aaron and Brian Luebke for the prelude "Alleluia, O Praise the Lord Most Holy."

The congregations of the Foursquare and Open Bible Churches are uniting in a sunrise service at the Open Bible Church at 6 a.m.

There will be special music and the Rev. Mary Ewbank, pastor of the Foursquare Church, will speak. The Rev. Willis Dixon is pastor of the Open Bible Church.

The First Presbyterian Church will have a sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. Breakfast will follow in the social hall.

The Senior High Youth Fellowship is in charge of the service. Regular worship services will be at 9 and 11 Easter morning. The Senior Choir will be singing at both services. The anthem is entitled "Son of Man." The Rev. E. Allen Campbell will be speaking on the theme "Easter Is Not an Island!"

The First Christian congregation will celebrate the Resurrection at 10:45 a.m. The sermon title for the Easter service is "The Resurrection's Reality."

A cast of eight persons will present a drama, "Even Unto Death," at 8:01 a.m. Resurrection Service at Bethel Church.

The cast includes Cindy and Ken Drew, Ron Clayton, Sandy Lordi, Sandy and Karl Zetterberg, Gerry Gaul and Gail Drew. Geri Miller, children's director of the church, is the director.

"Even Unto Death," takes place during Holy Week through a Biblical setting in the home of Joseph of Arimathea. It recounts the death, burial and glorious Resurrection of the Lord from a contemporary vantage point, and concludes with a surprise, but potent challenge.

The other services of the day include Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., morning worship at 10:45, and a victory musicale climaxing a great day at 7:01 p.m., featuring the church choir, "Promise," "Sonlite," Tom Saunders, and many others.

The youth choir of the Foursquare Church will present an Easter musicale, "I Have Seen the Lord," Sunday night at 7.

The choir is under the direction of Mrs. Wayne Pierce, crusader counselor. The narrator will be Mrs. Martin Boos, cadet counselor. Miss Kimberly Pierce will be the pianist.

The Northside Baptist Church will hold Easter services at 10:30 a.m., with the Rev. Allman speaking on "Empty Tomb, Full Hearts." The choir will provide special music.

St. Paul Lutheran Church will celebrate the Resurrection of Christ with festival services at 8:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. Sunday and an Easter Vigil Service at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday (Easter Eve).

Both sacraments of Baptism and Holy Communion will be administered at the Saturday evening services to be conducted by the Rev. Robert Wurtz, assistant pastor.

At the Sunday services the Rev. William Swarbrick, senior pastor, will preach on "The Death of Death and Aging." The senior choir will sing the anthem "Easter Song" and the youth choir will sing the anthem "Go and Tell." Holy Communion will be held at the conclusion of the 10:45 a.m. service.

Holy Eucharist at 8 a.m. and sung mass with procession at 10 a.m. will be held at St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

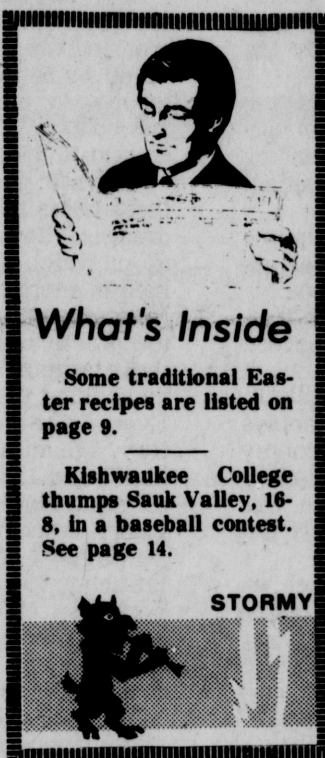

The Polo United Methodist Church will hold sunrise service at 7 a.m., followed by the Easter breakfast. Church school will be at 9:15 a.m. and family worship at 10:30 a.m.

Emmanuel United Methodist Church, Polo, will have Easter sunrise services at 6:30 a.m. along with the breakfast. Church school is at 9:30 a.m. and worship at 10:30 a.m.

Polo Church of the Brethren will have a sunrise service at 6 a.m., with Easter breakfast at 6:30 a.m. The theme of the 10:30 a.m. family worship for Easter Sunday will be "He is Risen."

The Open Bible Church of Polo will have a 6 a.m. sunrise service and the Easter breakfast will follow. Sunday School will be at 9:45 a.m.

13 die as oil rig survival device flips

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Thirteen men who scrambled into a saucer-like survival capsule before an oil drilling platform sank in the wind-whipped Gulf of Mexico died later when the capsule capsized, the Coast Guard said today.

"There were no survivors," among the 13, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The fiberglass capsule was pulled aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington. A Coast Guard spokesman said four bodies fell out an open hatch as the capsule was swung aboard, but Navy divers recovered them. Nine others were inside the capsule, the Coast Guard said.

The men were from the 35-man crew of the offshore drilling platform Ocean Express, which tipped over and sank late Thursday as it was moving through 15-foot seas lashed by winds that reached 60 mile per hour. The other crew members and the captain survived, but heavy seas stalled efforts to reach the men trapped in the capsule.

Navy divers had made the grim discovery of the bodies as several tugs and larger craft, including the Lexington, stood by at the scene, about 40 miles northeast of Corpus Christi.

"It's just a freak accident," said an official of the company that owned the rig, Ocean Drilling & Exploration Co. (ODECO) of New Orleans.

"We don't know exactly what happened. These capsules are supposed to float head up."

The official said names of the victims weren't immediately available.

The ODECO official described the survival capsule as about 14 feet wide, 9 feet high, and equipped with oxygen,

Prison sentence to youth

OREGON — Terry D. McMullinn, 22, was sentenced Thursday to a five to 10 year stint in the Department of Corrections for robbing more than $200 at gunpoint from the Mini-Mart Food Store in Rochelle.

The rural Rochelle man was sentenced by Circuit Judge John Moore after he pleaded guilty to armed robbery.

McMullinn was arrested March 1, the day following the robbery by Ogle County Sheriff's deputies and Rochelle Police. Police said he walked into the store shortly before closing, and displaying a revolver, took the cash from a check-out register. Clerk Esther Gittleton said the lone gunman wore a nylon stocking over his face in attempting to conceal his identity.

Public Defender Steven Helfer represented McMullinn. Prosecution was handled by State's Atty. Peter Woods.

peace plan calls for withdrawal of Syrian troops from Lebanon, an all-faction military coordinating committee that could call the Syrians back if they were needed to make peace, renewal of the cease-fire, prompt election of a new president, reunification of the Lebanese army and some of the political reforms demanded by Kamal Jumblatt and his leftist Moslems.

Arafat was to meet later with Jumblatt to try to get his acceptance of the plan.

"The fighting is escalating ferociously on almost all fronts," one official said. "There are more killed on the ground than we can count because we cannot reach stricken areas."

The heaviest battles were in and around Beirut, where Christians and Moslems traded rocket, mortar and light artillery fire. Local newspapers reported that three hospitals in the Christian quarter were hit by shellfire following two mortar attacks on a large hospital in the Moslem sector. The first attack on the Moslem hospital Wednesday was reported to have killed five persons and wounded 25. No casualty figures were available for the latter attacks.

The latest cease-fire began April 2 and was to have continued for 10 days, to permit election of a replacement for Christian President Suleiman Franjeh. It was extended until the end of the month when Franjeh hung on. Conservative estimates put the number killed in the year-long conflict at 15,500, although one Christian leader upped the figure to 20,000 on Thursday.

Each side blamed the other for the escalation of fighting. Jumblatt's leftists charged that the right-wing Christians were trying to force the Syrian army to intervene further and save them. Pierre Gemayel, leader of the right-wing Christian Phalange, claimed the leftists intensified the fighting to give Arafat, the chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization, the chance to supplant Syrian President Hafez Assad as the chief peacemaker.

While Arafat spent the night in Damascus conferring with Assad, a four-man Syrian delegation was in Beirut for talks with Jumblatt.

Assad, who is trying to pressure the leftists into a political agreement preserving some of the Christians' prewar power, were hoisted aboard one of the tugs which hustled alongside. These men reported there were 18 aboard a second capsule, but apparently five of those men escaped before it flipped over. Tugs took aboard these five survivors from the capsized capsule, all apparently bruised but not injured seriously.

It was more than six hours afterward before a diver could swim underneath long enough to discover that the hatch of that capsule was open and there was water inside. The bodies were discovered later in yet another dive.

The Coast Guard said the captain of the Ocean Express, who they did not identify, had stayed behind Thursday night to cut the two capsules of crewmen free from the rig. They said a helicopter plucked the captain to safety moments before the platform went to the bottom. He was taken to a naval medical center here. ODECO said the man's title was actually supervisor of barge movement, and they identified him as Peter van der Graff.

ODECO said the platform was being moved to a drilling site for Marathon Oil. Marathon, of nearby Rockport, Tex., said today that they had not yet taken control of the platform, although they had signed the lease.

warned Jumblatt on Monday that his forces were "prepared to move into Lebanon" and "have the capability to take any position we want."

An estimated 6,000 Syrian troops are in frontier areas, chiefly around the Damascus-Beirut highway east of the Lebanese capital. But so far Assad has been depending on some 9,000 Palestinian guerrillas of the Syrian-controlled Saika movement and the Palestine Liberation Army to try to check Jumblatt's forces.

The Syrians are also blocking arms shipments to the leftists. Meanwhile, political leaders met with parliament speaker Kamel Assaad to discuss a replacement for Franjeh, who symbolizes Christian resistance to more power for the Moslem majority.

Parliament last weekend passed a constitutional amendment to end Franjeh's term five months early so legislators could elect a president acceptable to the Moslems. Other Christian leaders predicted Franjeh would sign the amendment by Thursday, but he did not.

The Founding Faith—Part 4 Church blessed revolution

Editor's Note: This fourth installment of a five-part Easter series on the Bicentennial theme of "The Founding Faith" deals with the position of churches in the American Revolution — the church-blessed war.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

From a pulpit in the Shenandoah valley of Virginia on a Sunday in mid-1776, pastor Peter Muhlenberg took his text from Ecclesiastes 3:1: "For everything there is a season, a time for every matter under heaven."

He finished his sermon, led a solemn prayer, then threw off his clerical robe, standing before the startled congregation in the uniform of a colonel in the Continental army.

"In the language of the Holy Writ, there is a time for all things," he said. "There is a time to preach and a time to fight. And now is the time to fight." He paused and added: "Roll the drums for recruits!" The drums rolled and Lutheran minister Muhlenberg enlisted 300 men to serve with him in what became the Eighth Virginia Regiment in the American War of Independence.

The episode had its parallels throughout the colonies, both in words and deeds, in the clergy-formed freedom committees, in the chaplains mustered into the army of farmers and merchants, in the preacher-soldiers, in the sermons delivered in pulpits, fields and town halls.

Despite exceptions, "the churches as a whole favored the revolution," writes religion historian Conrad Cherry. "Protestant clergy were instrumental in rallying support for the revolutionary cause."

They did so mainly by "preaching up" the revolution, not only in the towns, but in the rural hinterlands seldom exposed to books, pamphleteering or newspapers. Their sermons and school room lectures fused theology into what became the war's slogan: "Resistance to tyrants is obedience to God." Many ministers took more tangible action. In Vermont, after hearing of the first battles at Lexington and Concord, Congregational minister David A.

ery preached a farewell sermon and marched toward Massachusetts with 20 men he had recruited.

In New Jersey, when soldiers ran out of wadding to ram their muskets, Presbyterian minister James Caldwell provided an armful of Isaac Watts' hymnals. "Now put 'Watts' into them, boys!" he shouted, tearing out pages for the soldiers to stuff their weapons.

It was in Boston's Old South Church that planning took place for the Boston Tea Party. In the tower of Old North Church, the lantern signal warned of approaching British troops. Zion Church in Allentown, Pa., was the hiding place during the war for the Liberty Bell, engraved with a Scriptural verse from Leviticus 25:10:

"Proclaim liberty throughout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof."

In fact, the first battle of the war — "the shot heard round the world" — occurred when the minister of Lexington, Mass., Jonas Clark, provided asylum in his home to revolutionary leaders Sam Adams and John Hancock, whose arrest had been ordered by the British.

When messages came of the approach of British militia, church bells and drums summoned the armed townsmen to the common in front of the church at daybreak, April 19, 1775, and there the first seven Americans fell, one of them on the church steps where he had gone for gunpowder.

"From this day," Clark wrote, "will be dated the liberty of the world."

Primarily, however, ministers served the cause with their teachings and exhortations on the Biblical imperative of resisting unjust encroachments on the God-given dignity and rights of everyman, created in the divine image.

Michelangelo's contribution to the glory of Easter

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
Lent is from the good old Anglo-Saxon word meaning spring and presages the joyous festival of Resurrection Day on Easter. And on Easter Sunday we encounter again the classic theme of Jesus demolishing the gates of hell and ascending triumphant from the fires in which He had been consumed since the Crucifixion.
Hallelujah! God is in His heaven.
The view of death as resurrection was among Christianity's offerings. Thus we know much about Easter but perhaps we know little about Michelangelo's permanent contribution to it.
He was full of despair, old and tired—72, in fact—and slept in his frock and boots as often as not when he applied his genius to St. Paul's, surely the most monumental undertaking of the Renaissance. But Michelangelo's motto was "The eye by which I see God is the same eye by which God sees me." In this spirit he undertook this added burden as a manifestation of his religious devotion and repeatedly refused any payment.
Michelangelo redesigned what remains the largest cathedral in the world in celebration of Easter; a jubilant fortress of faith, the awe and beauty of a world emerging from despair and dedicated to the reassuring resurrection of the Lord in the spirit of Hallelujah. God is in His heaven.
"Life is so short, the craft so long to learn," philosophized Hippocrates. Sculpture, painting, architecture—which craft in the one life of Michelangelo?

Tiny Michelangelo—only 5 feet 2—was born March 5, 1475, in the small hill town of Caprese, near Florence. He was only 17 when he carved the great mass-struggle relief "The Battle of the Centaurs" and 23 when he began his matchless "Pieta," the only work he ever signed.
Calling sculpture "the prime art," he did only sculpture—and painted nothing—for about 15 years. You marvel at Michelangelo's amazing combination of figures in the weight mass and how he always avoided both the sharp ridge of the Romans and the smoothly modeled plane of the Greeks.
As the years advanced he did many matchless paintings and on May 3, 1536 began "The Last Judgement" in the Vatican Sistine Chapel.
Michelangelo started this incredible mural with the small toe of an angel. And even his preliminary drawings—vivid, rapid lines, often exaggerated and with deliberate distortion—show the genius of the astounding Florentine.
His figures, in the profusion of 343, portray mankind in all its strengths and weaknesses as if Michelangelo himself were more a force of nature than a man. Yet he was human enough to paint in Hell an unfriendly critic.

You find in "The Last Judgement" probably the most formidable expression of terror ever caught by man. You stare at the man condemned to death, the face of a gargoye and the strength of a bull, his dark glance lit up in horror. Yet you see only half the face. And on the scroll of the Delphic sibyl, if your eyes are able to read it, Michelangelo left his message: "I am guessing."
Late in the afternoon of Feb. 13, 1564, the same year that Shakespeare was born, a stroke took Michelangelo's life. He died on the threshold of his 90th year.
He said to Cardinal Salviati, who administered the last rights: "I regret that I die just as I am beginning to learn the alphabet of my profession." He died in Rome and although Michelangelo had been made an honorary citizen of Rome he stated to his nephew Lionardo two days before his death that he wanted to be buried in Florence.
After a state funeral in Rome's Church of the SS Apostoli, Lionardo managed to recover the body clandestinely, bale it in a packing box and smuggle it to Florence.
Michelangelo's townsmen laid him to rest in the Church of Santa Croce and you can see there his sepulchre next to the cenotaph of his lifelong hero Dante.
Great men are a small family in this world and Michelangelo was one of them. Happy, happy Easter one and all.

New link in the chain

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)— We are more dependent today on the oil cartel than we were in the 1973-74 petroleum crisis.
It appears now that by 1985, the year we were to be independent from OPEC oil, we shall be importing 50 to 60 per cent of our needs, mostly from those same nations. A crisis in 1990 could push us to the ropes.
President Nixon's goal of approximate self-sufficiency in petroleum by the mid 1980s went by the boards long ago. President Ford's date is the year 2000.
That, too, is an illusion in the candid opinion of presidential advisers I've talked to in that area.
In a world worried over the dangers of nuclear energy, concern over the environmental effects of strip mining and offshore-drilling, plagued by bureaucratic delays and a capital market and economy filled with uncertainties, it is clear the production of energy in this country will lag dramatically behind plans still on paper only.
Even reducing dependence on foreign oil by 10 per cent will not be easy.
Vice President Nelson Rockefeller says in the face of rising consumption, it will require private investment of $600 billion to $800 billion the next 10 years to cut dependence from today's 40 per cent of our needs to 30 per cent.

At the same time, in those 10 years we shall spend between $350 billion to $500 billion for petroleum imports—a heavy drain on the supply of domestic capital needed to achieve this reduction in dependence.
Mr. Rockefeller talks of doubling coal production by 1985, increasing the production of domestic oil by 50 per cent and tripling the share of nuclear power in this country's electric power generation to 26 per cent.
Private industrial groups in those fields tell me these are pipe dreams. I have sat in on conferences in which some of the leading men in energy, invited here by the government, have wrestled with the practical problems of meeting those targets. These specialists end by shaking their heads in dismay. Even if the government's regulatory agencies disappeared overnight, and the necessary amounts of capital needed should miraculously appear, technicians and managers see insurmountable problems in assembling the numbers of specialists needed. Specialists at securing vast amounts of not-abundant materials, and able to solve organizational problems the like of which this country has never faced exist in time of war.
We are worried—and rightly so—about the adequacy of our defense in view of the growing size and sophistication of Russian military forces. Most curiously, however, we seem relatively unconcerned about energy, which may be even more threatening to our security.
Witness the shift to larger cars, those gas guzzlers we were assured were on the way out after the 1973-74 scare and price boosts. Despite some well-advertised exceptions, the government has made no great shift to energy conservation in its buildings or daily operations.
The record in industry is spotty. Some large concerns have made major advances in energy saving. But the principal waste takes place in hundreds of thousands of smaller industrial firms which have neither the capital nor the research facilities to make the changes that would result in important energy savings. Despite elaborate government plans, little has been done to help these small companies, except "go, go, go" pep talks.
Meanwhile, domestic production muddles along and imports continue to rise.
The problem isn't a lack of plans and proposals. The Administration has a fist full; the senator or congressman who hasn't introduced an energy bill is hard to find. The problem is there's no carry-through.

Taxes, red tape were British downfall

By TOM TIEDE
PHILADELPHIA (NEA)— Already this Bicentennial year more than 3,300 people a day are visiting Independence Hall, the place where the Republic took form.
They come from everywhere, Instantatics in hand, to walk amidst the memories of the men who secured the blessings of liberty, the Bill of Rights and the power of the people. Thank God and George Washington for these things that are self evident.
Dressed in clothing made superior by federal flame retardation regulations, the faithful arrive for the most part in automobiles which have been subject to a list of governmental safety decrees on everything from bumper strength to the composition of the paint. For those who come by plane their blessings are secured by federal agents who search their luggage for bombs. And train travelers are sanctified by U.S. financial aid to the railroads.
Many of the visitors are businessmen with whom the government sides in the control of competition. There are housewives who are vacationing from a year's toil with consumer protected home products. Some are welfare recipients, fortunate here that Independence Hall is free, compliments of the U.S. Park Service. Free by way of the $300 billion collected this fiscal year by the IRS.
Part of the tax, actually, is being paid by the tourists even as they enjoy its largesse. The souvenirs for sale are taxed by Uncle Sam; so is the newspaper which notifies the visitor that while he holidays, his government labors on. Street use is taxed by a toll system, cafe food may be taxed by at least three levels of bureaucracy, and some of each dollar for the sightseeing bus goes in effect toward research on the B-1 bomber. Even the air is taxed, in accordance with environmental additions to the energy bills of hotels at which the tourists in this more perfect union board.
The commercial lodgings, by the way, are models of Washington-enforced domestic tranquility. The Occupational Safety and Health Agency, for example, will not allow the drain grates in the basement floors to exceed specified hole openings in the mesh. The Health, Education and Welfare Administration will tolerate no more than 100 germs per square inch on the drinking glasses. Even toilet users have inalienable rights, according to the descendants of Jefferson, thus hotel seats must be disinfected daily in compliance with law.
Indeed, government has thought of everything for the tourists at Independence Hall. Here where the promotion of the general welfare originated, the federalists not only license refreshment vendors to serve the public, but regulate what is served. The limited number of hairs and rat droppings permitted in the hot dog wieners are carefully watched, as are the kinds of artificial flavoring in the Slurp mix. When a Minnesotan orders 8 ounces of Dr. Pepper in the neighborhood of the Liberty Bell, by damn, he is backed up by the full weight and authority of the Food and Drug Administration.
As for the tour of the Hall itself, the bureaucracy goes so far as to protect the tourists from themselves. Smoking is forbidden in the waiting room. Uniformed sentries are empowered to bar admittance to any citizen with bare feet. The government's idea here is to regulate unto others as it would have others regulate it, if others had the opportunity. Even picture-taking is not allowed, unless proper permit forms are filled out and recorded.

Incidentally, the photo permits are representative of some two billion government forms printed annually in the American pursuit of happiness. There are other forms at Independence Hall which record for posterity the number of light bulbs that burn out. Securing blessings begets paperwork, naturally; the Department of Agriculture alone has on hand enough filed documents—very nearly a million cubic feet—to fill Independence Hall over and over again.
And so they come, from Sagua-che and from Sauk Center, here to where it all began. Wonderful people Wonderful country. Let's raise our glasses in commemoration, the tax stamp bureau permitting.

The chairman of the KSB Hospital Auxiliary gift shop board, has announced plans for a 9 a.m. breakfast April 25 at the Dixon Country Club for auxiliary members assigned to the hospital gift shop and gift cart. A meeting to follow the breakfast will include an explanation of new operating procedures for the gift shop, and workers eligible to attend the breakfast meeting will be contacted prior to the event.

Spurred on by two fatal accidents in three days, the Dixon Junior Chamber of Commerce is turning on the heat in the current safety campaign. Saturday the Jaycees are bringing a safety lane into town to test automobile defects. The place where the lane will be set up has not yet been determined. More than 200 Dixon youngsters brought their bicycles to be fitted with scotch tape lights last Saturday. This project will be continued this Saturday.

Some reasonable help for inundated courts

In this lawsuit-prone age, it's good to observe that the idea of arbitration is not only alive but flourishing.
The year 1976 marks the 50th anniversary of an organization which has done yeoman service in helping Americans resolve their conflicts and which has firmly established its authority as an alternative to the courts — the American Arbitration Association (AAA).
Mention the word arbitration and most people will think of it primarily as a labor relations procedure. Actually, of the more than 35,000 cases the association heard last year — 35,000 cases that did not wind up in the courts — 14,000 involved automobile accident claims, more than 13,000 dealt with labor-management grievances and 4,000 arose out of contract disputes between businessmen. Other cases involved consumer complaints, medical malpractice claims and even family and personal disputes.
Arbitration, the settlement of a dispute through the mediation of impartial third parties, is really an old American tradition. George Washington's last will and testament provided for three "impartial and intelligent men" to decide any disputes that might arise over the disposition of his worldly goods. The AAA was created in 1926 by the merger of two prior existing organizations, the Arbitration Society of America and the Arbitration Foundation.

perience with the arbitration of grievances. This was given a big boost during the war years because the War Labor Board would not approve any collective agreement that did not provide for grievance arbitration.
By 1952, the Bureau of Labor Statistics was able to report that 89 per cent of all collective bargaining contracts had arbitration clauses. It was in this decade that the AAA first become involved in administering union elections.
In 1957, the AAA arbitrated 305 uninsured motorist cases. By 1965, the number had risen to 6,343. International trade arbitration also grew apace. Six foreign governments and nationals of 35 countries were involved in cases filed with the AAA in one year alone.

Today, "increased government regulation, convening with other cascades of litigation, has thrust impossible burdens on the courts," notes Robert Coulson, president of the AAA. Litigation has become increasingly expensive and time-consuming. At the same time, the law's recognition of personal rights has expanded.
The past 50 years thus have been but prologue for this organization, which is dedicated to helping people resolve disputes through the process of reason.

Actor performs many tasks

Acting can be even more broadening than travel, according to "Movin' On" star Claude Akins, who's done plenty of both.

"I've done a lot of things on this series that I never did before in my life," reported Akins, who as rig jockey Sonny Pruitt traveled all over the country to film the series.

"And most of them I'll never do again," he added with a broad grin, "unless the script calls for it."

The most obvious first: Piloting the 18-wheeler he and series star Frank Converse (Will Chandler) drive in the program, colorcast Tuesday 7-8 p.m. on NBC.

How long did it take him to learn?

"What day is it?" he responded. "I'm still learning."

In another first, Akins took up scuba diving for the "Full Fathom Five" segment of the series.

"I learned in a pool in Mobile, where we did the show. I also learned that diving hurts my ears."

Would he do it again?

"Not unless the script calls for it," he replied.

Akins learned to water-ski for a recently broadcast episode of the series. Two experienced crew members taught him one night and they filmed the scene next day.

"The first boat we had was too small to get me out of the water," reported the husky actor. "Then we got a bigger boat and it lifted me clear out of the skis. After that, it was easy."

Would he do that again?

"Not unless the script calls for it," he replied.

Not a first for Akins, but definitely a first for Sonny Pruitt, was his vocalizing in the "Sing It Again, Sonny" episode.

"I can guarantee you, Elvis Presley has absolutely nothing to worry about, but I kind of like what I did for the show," Akins said.

For a show filmed in Georgia, Sonny (a la Akins again) became an unwilling balloonist when an anchor rope he was holding yanked him into the air.

"We had 11 hot air balloons from as far away as New Jersey for that show. I learned that it's a lot easier getting up than it is getting down. And I learned that I don't want to do it again—unless the script calls for it."

In another recent episode, when trucker Pruitt was hauling race cars and got conned into racing one himself, Akins narrowly escaped serious injury.

"I don't know exactly how fast I had that car going but it was around 110 in the turns," he said.

Geraldine Chaplin prefers life in Southern California

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Geraldine Chaplin has worked all over the world. She's done films in Spain, Scandinavia, Israel, England, Egypt, Canada and, of course, Nashville.

"And I've decided," she says, "that I love Southern California best of all. Imagine, it's the middle of winter and I'm swimming. Incredible. They talk about smog. I don't see any smog, do you?"

Despite her love affair with Southern California, she lives in Madrid. That's because "the man I live with" — Carlos Saura — lives there. Actually, Geraldine was born in Southern California but moved to England with her father, Charlie Chaplin, when she was eight.

"I don't remember much about my childhood here," she says. "Just a few vague memories of the house on Summit Drive where we lived — the tennis courts and the place where I used to keep my rabbits. I went there recently — trespassed, actually — to see it. It was as I remembered."

Her parents sent her, for several years, to a convent school in Switzerland. She hated it — she never particularly liked school, and she disliked that one especially.

"I wanted to be a dancer," she says. "I studied ballet a long time. I did some dancing but I couldn't get a job — I guess I really wasn't very good."

Geraldine never thought about acting until later. At first, she got a job with a circus, tending the elephants, in France.

"One of my jobs," she says, "was to make the elephants go to the bathroom before they went on. Do you know how to make an elephant go to the bathroom? You have to make him stand up on his hind legs and then, when he comes down, he goes to the bathroom. It always happens."

When she left the circus, she was out of work and broke. After deciding acting was the easiest thing she could do, Geraldine told a friend who told another friend, an agent, of her decision. Within a week, she had 12 offers.

"I realized, of course, that it was on the strength of my name and who my father was," she says, "but at that point I had to make some money. I did one film I didn't like and then 'Dr. Zhivago.' Then I found I loved acting."

She particularly likes her association with Robert Altman. She met him, first, at a London party. He brought her to Los Angeles for a picture that never happened, then put her in "Nashville," which was good for everyone involved.

And now she's just wrapped up her part in "Welcome To L.A.," which Altman produced but didn't direct — Alan Rudolph directed it.

"I love working for Bob," she says, "and I hope it goes on forever."

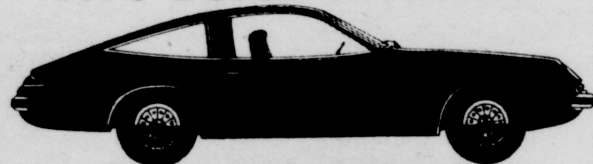

She says her father is proud of her accomplishments, but it isn't exactly what he'd hoped for.

"Poor daddy," she says. "He had 10 children and he had it all planned in his mind — one would be a doctor, another a lawyer, another an architect and so on. As it turned out, not one of us went to university. There are still two left in school, but I doubt they will go, either."

"We're all actors or writers — and one sister, Vickie, is a tight-rope walker with a circus, and quite good, too."

Shakespeare translated in modern radio series

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Next week, an unlikely arena for the works of William Shakespeare — "CBS Radio Mystery Theater" — will celebrate the bard's 412th birthday with adaptations of seven of his best-known plays.

They'll be aired from April 19 through April 25 on more than 200 stations, but you won't find them listed under their original titles.

The leadoff show is "Murder Most Foul," which in its day was called "Macbeth." "Julius Caesar" will be known as "The Assassination," "Hamlet" will be "Long Live the King Is Dead" and so on.

While the original plot lines will remain intact, considerable compression of same has been done to fit each show to the radio series' 53-minute time limit. Parts of the dialogue will be rewritten to make Shakespeare's words more understandable to those with only a nodding acquaintance with his works.

The man doing the adaptations and risking the wrath of Shakespeare purists is Ian Martin, 63, a Scotland-born, New York-raised veteran of more than 40 years of acting and writing for radio and TV.

He said he came up with the idea of adapting the Shakespeare plays for radio while pondering the fact that while most people study them in high school, few ever understand them because of the rich poetry, imagery and all that.

"It suddenly occurred to me that the tragedies — and we're doing six of them — are all as full of mystery and mayhem and they certainly fit our programs as stories," he said.

Not many who struggled through Shakespeare remember "he was a magnificent story teller," he added. "So I thought we could bring the stories to the people as a kind of reintroduction to Shakespeare."

He said he retitled the plays he selected because they only are adaptations and he didn't want to mislead anyone.

The business side of the news

Realtors to celebrate Private Property Week

"Today's realtor and realtor-associate are the products of more than 70 years of dedication to the idea of real estate professionalism."

That statement by Chuck Reuter, 1976 president of the Lee County Board of Realtors, was made in conjunction with realtors' celebration nationally of Private Property Week, April 18-24.

The president observed that it was the desire for professional standards that first brought real estate salesmen together in the 1890s. "They were attempting to form a national organization with uniform real estate rules and regulations from state to state," he explained.

plained.

"After a few abortive attempts, the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges—a predecessor of the National Association of Realtors—was launched in 1908. The term realtor was coined in 1916," the president added.

Reuter noted that realtor is much more than a trademark. "It stands for a specific person in the real estate business, one who subscribes to a strict code of ethics as a member of a local board, state and national associations of realtors."

The president pointed to "just a few items in the code of ethics of realtors that demonstrate professionalism and integrity in dealing with buyers and sellers of homes and other property.

"The realtor should keep himself informed of movements affecting real estate in his community, state and nation, so that he may be able to contribute to public thinking on matters of taxation, legislation, land use, city planning and other questions affecting property interest.

"It is the duty of the realtor to be well informed on current market conditions in order to be in a position to advise his clients of the fair market price.

"It is the duty of the realtor to protect against fraud."

Mrs. Mildred Meade was presented a wristwatch, in recognition of her 25 years of service to the Lee County Cold Storage and Locker Plant at Amboy, by Walter Weber, president of the company board of directors. (Telegraph Photo)

Centel converts pay phones

You don't need a dime to place a call on many of Centel's pay stations in the Dixon area with the conversion to Dial Tone First operation. If your hands are full, your change purse empty you can reach the operator without depositing a coin and have the call charged to your home or business telephone number.

Credit card, collect and person-to-person calls can also be placed without depositing a coin, as well as calls to directory assistance and repair. This improvement also offers an extra measure of safety in times of emergency when you might not have time to locate a dime.

Centel has spent more than $74,500 in the Dixon area on this improvement with about $54,500 used for the purchase and installation of the new Dial Tone First pay station telephones. The remaining $20,000 was spent on adapting Central Office Equipment to the new operation.

Dixon District Plant Supt., J. K. Hyatt estimates the conversion of the pay stations to Dial Tone First will be completed by May 1st of this year.

For the benefit of users, easily understand operating instructions appear on the front of all the new Dial Tone First telephones.

Ask Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Could you please give me some general information about the members of Monty Python's Flying Circus?— DEBBIE SADZEWICZ, Methuen, Mass.

I'm glad you asked, because it gives me a chance to talk a little about those glorious nuts. The group is made up of six men. Five of them— John Cleese, Graham Chapman, Michael Palin, Terry Jones and Eric Idle— are Englishmen, all writers primarily. In a London pub in 1969 they decided to team up and write for themselves. They added Terry Gilliam, an American, who does the wild animation between sequences.

DEAR DICK: I hope you can help me. I have been a Tony Martin fan for years. I have two of his albums— worn thin— and can't find any more. Where can I buy all or any of his recordings? And why are they so hard to find?— P. JOHNSON, Massena, N.Y.

Records, like books, have a primary life, when they are new and in demand. Gradually their popularity wanes and the publisher or record company doesn't make any more. They go out of print. That's what's happened to Tony Martin's albums. Your only hope is to find a good used copy in a second-hand record store, or through advertising. But you might be pleased to hear that Tony has a new single, "Sing Me a Love Song," on the Alexander Street label. And you might also be happy to hear that there will be a book out next fall, the dual biography of Tony and his wife, Cyd Charisse. I know, because I wrote it.

DEAR DICK: I would like to know if Richard Thomas has done a Bicentennial Minute and, if not, does he plan to?— R. PRESS, Stockton, Calif.

Yes, Thomas' Minute has come and gone. If you missed it, stick around until 2076, when they'll all be repeated for our Tricentennial.

DEAR DICK: Are Roy Clark and Buck Trent of Hee Haw related?— LORETTA O'TOOLE, Troy, Ohio

No.

DEAR DICK: I used to watch When Things Were Rotten, but then it disappeared. I was recently watching Don Adams' Screen Test on which they mentioned it as if it were still on the air. What happened to it?— JENNIFER ROSSIE, Canton, N.Y.

The Don Adams show— one of TV's all-time worsts— is taped a long time before it goes on the air. When that show you watched was made, When Things Were Rotten was still being shown. But it has disappeared, victim of low ratings and, primarily, unfunny scripts.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me what new shows Scott Jacoby will be playing in? Is he still acting?— D. M. M., Meriden, Conn.

Yes, Scott is still acting. His agent, Barry Solomon, says he has no definite commitment now for a new show "but there are a lot of possibilities, although we haven't firmed anything up." That's agent talk for they're dicker- ing over money. Scott, incidentally, is 19 now.

DEAR DICK: Are Lee Majors and Lindsay Wagner really married in real life?— TIMMY WARREN, Alban- ville, P.E.I., Can.

No.

Special repast for Easter

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Easter traditionally celebrates not only the rebirth of faith for Christians but also of nature bursting forth with promise of spring greenery and color. It remains a time when friends and family join for a very special repast to note this most ancient of religious observances. Just as traditional as the spring budding is the appearance of an Easter ham on many tables. With it are vegetables and desserts that come from all regions of North America, again a reason to rejoice.

MENU
Cinnamon-Raisin English Muffins
Worcester Glazed Ham
Pungent Raisin Mustard Sauce
Molded Salad with Green Grapes
Pommes Marguerite
Baked Celery Wedges
Raspberry Dream Cake

WORCESTER GLAZED HAM

Bake your favorite ham following your usual method. For instance, if you bake an 8-pound precooked canned ham, place it in a shallow baking pan. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven for 2 to 2½ hours, or until thermometer registers 130 degrees. Remove ham from oven. Increase oven temperature to 425 degrees. Score top surface of ham. Glaze with about one cup of one of the following sauces. Return to oven and bake for 10 minutes longer or until glazed and slightly browned. Heat remaining glaze and serve as a sauce along with sliced ham.

MUSTARD GLAZED HAM

8 pound uncooked shank half ham
1 tablespoon powdered mustard
1 tablespoon warm water
1 can (6 ounce) frozen orange juice concentrate ½ cup pineapple juice
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 teaspoons onion powder
½ teaspoon ground white pepper

About 20 whole cloves

Place ham, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer into thickest part of ham, being sure the thermometer tip does not touch the bone. Roast in a preheated 325-degree oven until thermometer registers 160, about 2½ to 3 hours. Meanwhile, in a small cup combine mustard with warm water. Let stand 10 minutes for flavor to develop. In a medium saucepan blend mustard with orange juice, pineapple juice, brown sugar, onion powder and white pepper. Bring to boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, for 10 minutes, stirring every few minutes. Score fat or ham by making diagonal cuts one-eighth-inch deep, three-quarters-inch apart. Repeat scoring at an angle to make diamonds. Stud with cloves. Brush with some of the mustard-orange juice mixture. Return to moderate oven. Bake until glazed, about 30 minutes, brushing twice more with mustard-orange mixture. Makes 12 portions.

WORCESTER CRANBERRY GLAZE

1 can (1 pound) whole berry cranberry sauce
¼ cup packed light brown sugar
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 teaspoon onion powder
In a medium saucepan combine all ingredients. Bring to boiling point, reduce heat. Simmer uncovered for 5 minutes. Makes 2 cups.

HONEY ORANGE GLAZE

1 jar (1 pound) orange marmalade
¼ cup honey
1½ tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

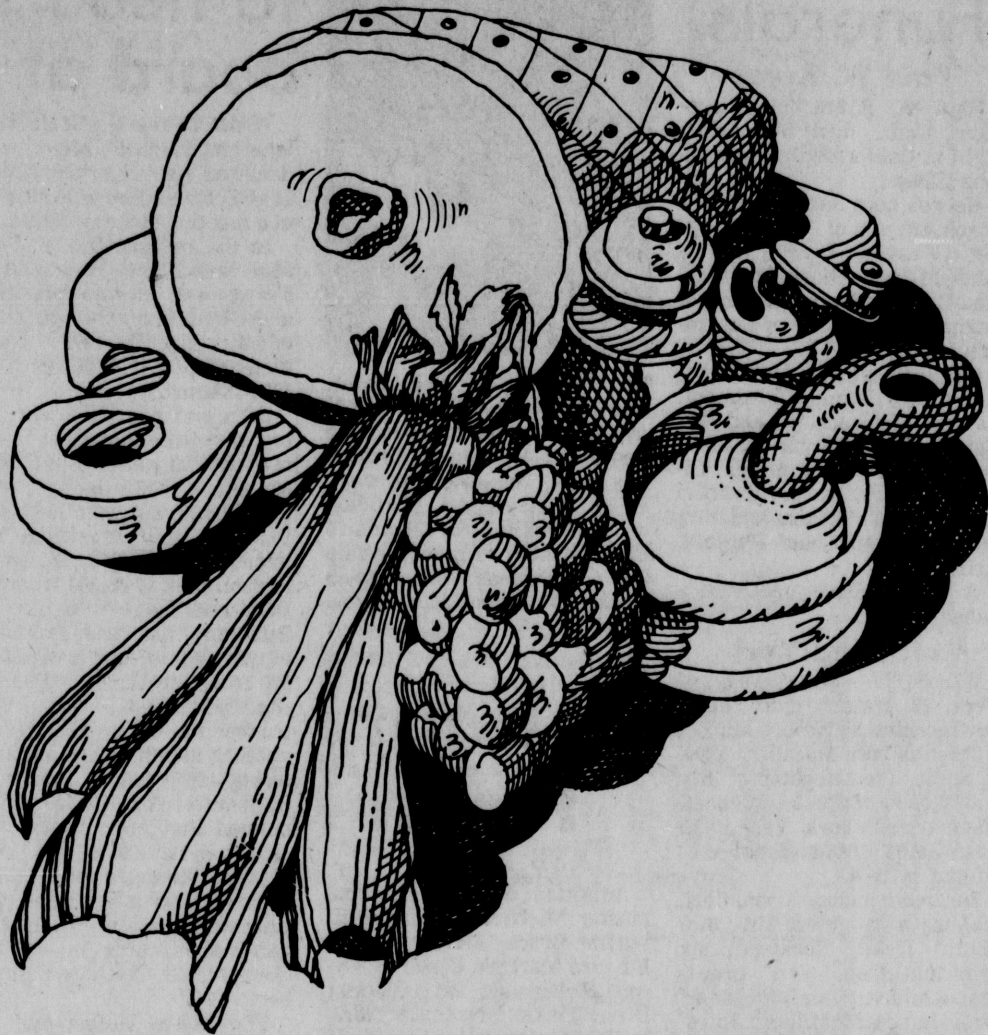

In a medium saucepan combine all ingredients. Bring to boiling point; reduce heat. Simmer uncovered for 2 minutes. Makes one-and-two-thirds cups sauce.

PUNGENT RAISIN MUSTARD SAUCE

1 cup raisins
½ cup cider vinegar
½ cup water
¼ cup dry mustard
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup dairy sour cream
Chop raisins coarsely. + Combine with vinegar and water; simmer over low heat. Blend mustard, brown sugar, salt and flour. Combine with beaten eggs and add to raisin mixture. Cook, stirring over low heat, 5 minutes, or until thickened. Remove from heat and chill. Stir in sour cream. Serve with ham. Makes 1½ pints.

Note: Sour cream may be doubled to make milder flavored sauce. Sauce may be heated if desired.

+To chop raisins, spray inside of blender container with natural vegetable spray. On medium speed, whirl raisins one-half cup at a time. Empty container, Repeat process.

CINNAMON-RAISIN ENGLISH MUFFINS

5 to 6 cups all-purpose flour, divided
1 package active dry yeast
4 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cups water
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup dark raisins
Cornmeal

In the large bowl of an electric mixer combine 3 cups of the flour with yeast, cinnamon, sugar and salt. In a small saucepan combine water, milk and butter. Heat until lukewarm (butter does not need to melt.) Add to flour mixture; stir at low speed until blended. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes. With a wooden spoon stir in raisins and enough flour to make a soft dough, about 2 cups. Knead in enough remaining flour to make a soft ball (mixture may be sticky.) Place in a lightly greased bowl. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch dough down. Turn out onto a board sprinkled with cornmeal. Roll out one-quarter-inch thick. With a floured 3-inch cutter, cut out rounds. Place on ungreased baking sheets, 2 inches apart. Sprinkle tops with cornmeal. Cover and let rise in a warm place for 30 minutes. Heat a griddle or a heavy iron skillet over medium heat. Place muffins on griddle. Bake until golden, about 8 minutes on each side. Cool on wire racks. Makes 18 English Muffins.

MOLDED SALAD WITH GREEN GRAPES

¼ cup flour
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup crushed Roquefort or blue cheese
½ cup minced green pepper
½ cup chopped pimiento
¼ cup minced onion
3½ cups halved seedless green grapes
Mix together flour, mustard, salt and gelatin in top of double boiler. Gradually add milk; cook over boiling water, stirring frequently until mixture thickens. Stir a little hot mixture into eggs; blend into remaining hot mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until eggs thicken. Remove from heat, stir vinegar into mixture and cool to room temperature. Blend mayonnaise into cheese. Stir mixture and remaining ingredients into cooked mixture. Turn into 6-cup mold; chill until firm. Unmold on serving dish. Garnish with salad greens and additional grapes. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

POMMES MARGUERITE

3 pounds potatoes (about 9 medium), peeled and quartered
2 teaspoons salt
2 cloves garlic
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
1-3rd cup plus 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 egg yolks
½ cup half and half
¼ cup chopped parsley
Paprika

In large saucepan, in 1 inch water, cook potatoes with salt and garlic, tightly covered, 15 to 20 minutes or until tender. Meanwhile, in skillet, saute mushrooms in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; set aside. When potatoes are tender, discard garlic. With electric mixer on medium-high speed, or rotary beater, beat potatoes until fluffy. Add remaining one-third cup butter, egg yolks and half and half. Beat until well blended. Fold in mushrooms and parsley. Pile into ovenproof serving dish. Sprinkle with paprika. Keep warm until serving time. Makes 10 servings.

(Pommes Marguerite may be prepared early in the day. Refrigerate, covered. To serve, bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes until heated through.)

BAKED CELERY WEDGES

1 stalk celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup minced onion
½ cup sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons flour
1 can (12 ounce) cocktail vegetable juice
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon oregano leaves, crumbled

RASPBERRY DREAM CAKE

1 (10 ounce) package frozen raspberries
1 (18½ ounce) package white cake mix
4 eggs
½ cup salad oil
1 (3¼ ounce) package instant vanilla pudding mix
Raspberry Frosting
Defrost raspberries and drain, reserving one-half cup syrup. Reserve 2 tablespoons raspberries for frosting and a few for garnish. Place cake mix, eggs, oil, pudding mix, one-half cup raspberry syrup and remaining raspberries in mixing bowl. Beat at medium speed 3 minutes. Pour into greased and floured 8½-inch bundt pan, 10-inch tube pan or 2 (9-inch) cake pans. Bake at 350 degrees until cake tests done, 50 to 55 minutes for bundt or tube pan or 25 to 30 minutes for layers. Cool 15 minutes before removing from pan. Cool completely. Frost with Raspberry Frosting. Garnish with reserved raspberries.

Raspberry Frosting
Combine 2 cups powdered sugar, one-quarter cup soft butter, 2 tablespoons raspberries and one-half teaspoon almond extract. Beat well until blended and smooth.

Dear Ann Landers: I think you've been had. If, as you stated in a recent column, there is actually a doctor in Tokyo who sews in sheep hymens for deflowered virgins, the operation could not be called "maku saisel."

The Japanese have no "I" in their "language." Lots of ruck with this one, Ann Landers. —Toyo Theresa

Dear Tokyo: My friend and tax accountant, Frank Takahashi, tells me you are right. There is no "I" in the Japanese language, but sometimes the Japanese use medical or technical terms adapted from the English. The report of the surgical procedure did indeed appear on the wire services and I believe it was a legitimate story. If I was taken in, so were millions of others. At any rate it was an "I" of a good story.

Pete hopes finesse is wrong

By Oswald and James Jacoby
Pessimistic Pete won the first trick with dummy's king of clubs. East played the queen and Pete promptly called for the queen of hearts.

East played low and it was up to Pete to decide whether or not to take the trump finesse. The game was match point duplicate and if Pete lost that finesse, West would probably give his partner a club ruff and Pete would be held to his contract. On the other hand if Pete did not take the finesse and it would wind up making five instead of six.

What did Pete do? He rose with the ace and wound up making five hearts.

Did he refuse the finesse because he was a pessimist? No. He refused it because he wanted it to be wrong. Pete had really underbid his hand. Surely some slam try was indicated after that heart raise. Therefore, Pete reasoned that a lot of pairs would be in a slam which

Rape prevention program planned at Sauk Valley

A nationally acclaimed rape prevention program entitled "How To Say No to a Rapist—And Survive" will be presented free of charge on April 27, at 7 p.m. in the gym at Sauk Valley College.

Claire Buschmann, student activities counselor at SVC, said the presentation will be made by Frederic Storaska, executive director of the National Organization for the Prevention of Rape and Assault.

Storaska's presentation centers on a method of rape prevention that is non-sensational with its orientation toward active self-help for potential rape victims. It is useful to all women from pre-teen years up and is designed to provide both men and women with an understanding of the elements that constitute an assault and give women the psychological preparedness and physical techniques necessary to thwart any future confrontations.

Buschmann said Storaska's approach to his subject is to create an atmosphere that cuts through the anxiety, embarrassment, and myths which have made discussion of rape taboo. His informational program is intended to instill confidence in women and in their ability to handle a rape situation. It emphasizes the importance of mental preparedness and the proper attitude in preventing a possible assault.

Characterizing the would-be rapist as rejected by women and hating them, he explains why an obviously hostile response by the victim can jeopardize her life. Buschmann said the speaker will challenge prevailing attitudes and myths that encourage rape including: 1) women are helpless and cannot deal with rape and assault; 2) a woman who hitchhikes wants to be raped; and 3) one man cannot rape one woman—she must participate.

Storaska, who founded the National Rape and Assault Prevention Center in 1972, is a graduate of North Carolina State University. Following a serious football injury, Storaska turned to teaching karate and now instructs local state and national law enforcement personnel in self-defense karate.

Ms. Buschmann said during 1964 Storaska witnessed the rape and assault of a young girl by a gang of teen-age boys. He fought off the assailants but the girl had already been seriously injured. He spends his time directing the activities of NOPRA and recently authored a book published by Random House, "How To Say No To A Rapist—And Survive."

Further information about his presentation may be obtained by contacting Buschmann at the college.

Kreider gets new equipment

Several months ago the Kreider Workshop commenced work on a contract for Allied Chain, a manufacturer of farm implement chains and drives. A drill press with ejector ram and an air-over-hydraulic press, necessary to the job, were installed in the workshop.

Once in production, the problems of handling large volumes of steel pins and side bars became apparent. To aid in moving these materials, Bill Crowson of Allied Chain offered the shop a "Crown," 1,500 pound capacity electric fork lift. Last Thursday Scott Smith, machine shop supervisor at Kreider, picked up the lift and is preparing it for use at the workshop.

Dr. Frank elected to head school board at Walnut

WALNUT — H. Neale Wallace and Hugh F. Miller were declared elected to the Walnut High School Board of Education at a meeting Monday night.

In the reorganization of the new board, Dr. Stanwood S. Frank was elected president and Glenn Gonigam was elected secretary. The 1976-77 board then accepted the policies of the 1975-76 board.

Bills and payroll in the following amounts were approved: Education Fund, $25,898.89; Building Fund, $3,772.93; Transportation Fund, $5,522.12; and Municipal Retirement Fund, $564.17. An interfund loan of $6,500 from the Bond and Interest Fund to the Building Fund was approved, as was an interfund loan of $10,500 from the Building Fund to the Education Fund. This transaction allows the district another month before administering anticipation warrants. Superintendent Bellaver explained that anticipation warrants will have to be used longer than expected because he has received information that Bureau County taxes might be received as late as July and Lee County taxes as late as September.

The board authorized Dr. Bellaver to write to area legislators encouraging their support for passage of HB 3509, which amends the School Code to eliminate the "roll back" provisions and permit school districts, after referendum, to levy above the maximum operating tax rate limits without affecting entitlement to state aid. The board also requested that the people of the district write their legislators requesting passage of this bill. The law now in effect forces some school districts to look at consolidation because they cannot get additional money to run their schools, the board advised.

The board expressed its appreciation for the $26 donation to the home economics class by the Bureau County Pork Producers Association. The board then approved nominations of the Educational Council for membership to that body.

The calendar for 1976-77 was approved. Following are some of the pertinent dates: First day of school, Aug. 30; Thanksgiving vacation, Nov. 25-26; Christmas vacation, Dec. 23-Jan. 2; Good Friday, April 8; Spring vacation, April 8-17 (also snow days); last day of school, June 1.

At this time 10 applications have been received for the secretary's position. Dr. Bellaver will interview some candidates and present them to the board at the May 12 meeting. Dr. Bellaver was also requested to develop the schedule for 1976-77 utilizing a half-time math position in place of the position opened by Margarete Yonk's retirement.

Due to the cost of North Central Association membership, its accompanying evaluation visitation and the possibility of Walnut High School being placed on a probationary status due to cuts in the 1976-77 budget, the board decided to drop its membership in the NCA. The board hopes to make reapplication for membership when the district has been able to get its present financial problems alleviated.

The board rehired faculty whose status had not been previously altered. They were rehired under the present terms of their contracts, with the salary schedule to be determined at a later date. The faculty salary committee was asked to present its proposal at the May 12 meeting.

The results of the straw poll conducted during the school board election are as follows: 174 in favor of passing a referendum and increasing taxes; 129 in favor of cutting the budget and perhaps the educational programs; 3 in favor of deficit spending and going into debt further.

The board then committed itself to a referendum and definitive plans will be made at the May 12 meeting.

Second kindergarten registration is set

Reduced registrations in the kindergarten level at Dixon Public Schools have prompted school officials to schedule a second registration day. Supt. of Schools Stanley Weber said 77 fewer youngsters were registered March 18-19 than the previous year.

New registrations will be taken April 23 in each of the elementary schools for any child who has not previously registered. Hours of registration will be from 9-11 a.m. and 1-3 p.m.

The following guidelines are required by the school district: Parents are to register their child in the elementary school where the child would attend school under normal circumstances.

A child will be eligible to enroll in kindergarten for the fall of 1976 if the child is five years old before Dec. 1, 1976. All children born in all months of 1971, except December, 1971, are eligible. Note: Just because a child is of eligible registration age does not require that he be registered in kindergarten at this time. In some cases because of the child's immaturity it is advisable not to enroll him until the following year. Parents having doubts or questions concerning this should consult with the school principal prior to the registration dates.

Children who have not attended kindergarten and plan to enroll in either kindergarten or first grade next year should be registered at this time.

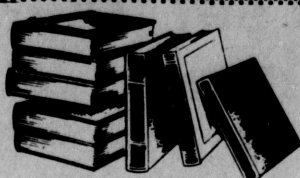

Parents must show an official county or state issued birth certificate, hospital birth certificate or a baptismal record as evidence of birth date. This certificate must be shown at the time of registration.

Children do not have to accompany the parent to the school for registration purposes. School secretaries are responsible for the registration. Hours of registration are from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m. in all elementary schools.

Kindergarten fees will not be collected on registration day. The purpose of this registration is to help school authorities plan for the coming school year.

John Wernick (left) and Tom Sanford, both of Dixon, display their prize capture, Miss Sauk Valley (Jeanna Scholl of Polo). She will be "at liberty," however, on Saturday to help recruit members for the 75th Illinois Volunteer Infantry Division at the Sterling Mall.

FOCUS

Holy Week

Passover and Easter overlap this year, something that doesn't always happen. Passover, which began at sundown Wednesday, falls on the same eight days each year on the Jewish calendar. Easter is celebrated on the first Sunday after the full moon that appears on or after the vernal equinox. According to three of the Gospels, the Last Supper, which Christ attended with His 12 disciples on the day before His Crucifixion, was the Passover meal. Thus, some felt that Easter should coincide with the observance of Passover. The method for determining the date of Easter that was established in 325 A.D. by the Council of Nicea, however, means that the date of Easter varies widely from year to year.

DO YOU KNOW — What is the vernal equinox?

Youths donate blood

Randell Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wagner of Franklin Grove, was Ashton's first 17 year old blood donor at the Red Cross bloodmobile visit at the Ashton United Methodist Church in March.

Randell is a junior at Ashton High School where he has been active in FFA and is especially interested in carpentry. He is a member of St. John's Lutheran Church in Ashton.

Other Ashton students who donated blood included Renee Kahn, Kent Anders, Curt Dusing, Gary Lewellen, all 17 years old, and Michael Caldwell, Susan Thompson, Barb Wyrick, and Steven John Heng. These young people helped the Ashton United Methodist Women, who sponsored the visit, reach a total of 70 pints, ten over their quota.

Students, teachers and employees at Sauk Valley College gave a total of 98 pints when the Red Cross bloodmobile visited there in March. Student nurses not only gave blood, but also scheduled donors ahead of time and filled various nursing positions a the bloodmobile during the day. The Four-square Church of Dixon furnished the canteen. The Dixon VFW Club on Route 38 will be the site of the next bloodmobile visit on Monday, from noon to 6 p.m., when the quota will be 125 pints.

Discussion over light bill mixup

ROCHELLE — Discussed at the Flag-Rochelle Community Park District meeting Wednesday night, was an unusually large electric bill, which Bob Kent, Park Director questioned, only to find that the metered lights of the tennis courts were wired on with the new lights of the Rochelle Township High School football field.

The tennis courts are the property of the high school, but are shared with the park district, with the park district using them through the summer months, when no school is in session. Meetings with school officials and city utility officials have still not solved the problem, and according to Kent, there will be no payment of the bill until the conditions are changed.

A letter was also received from Dr. Mel Smith, Rochelle Township High School superintendent, complaining of the lack of etiquette on the tennis courts, due to the length of time used by some players and not giving others a chance to play.

Appointed Mrs. Kay Stocking and James Moorehead to work with the city of Rochelle on a tree planting program throughout the community. It is a part of the Bi-Centennial year celebration. The program was first suggested by Park District president Ed Rice, and a letter was forwarded on March 17, to members of the Rochelle City Council.

In other action, the board: —Received a donation from the Rochelle Junior Woman's Club for a Children's climber to be placed in Tilton Park.

—Read a letter from the Rochelle Police Department, forwarding a suggestion of police officer Jimmy J. Combs, that Spring Lake be fenced in to prevent juveniles from entering the grounds. The fencing would also prevent any tragedy that could occur, especially at the deep end of the lake. Combs was concerned and felt fencing could minimize the situation.

At 2 p.m., on April 30, an Arbor Day program will be held at Cooper Park at which time students of Mrs. Garland Grace's fourth grade will plant seedlings that they have been growing. Kent said, "Anyone wishing to donate a tree for the ceremony, will be graciously accepted."

dent, gives this account of activities of a Baptist minister in South Carolina, Richard Furman:

"It seems young Furman was not only an enthusiastic Baptist preacher but an ardent advocate of rebellion, and everywhere, on stumps, in bars as well as in the pulpit, prayed and preached resistance to Britain and alarm to the Tories."

The British general, Lord Cornwallis, offered 1,000 pounds for Furman's head.

A pro-British Tory of the period, Judge Peter Oliver, writing at the close of the war, blamed it on a "back regiment" in colonial forces — the dark-suited clergy.

"As to their pulpits, many of them were converted into gutters of sedition," Oliver wrote. "The clergy had quite unlearned the gospel, and had substituted politics instead."

This complaint is still heard sometimes today when churches seek to apply their principles to public issues. A British official, reporting on colonial attitudes in rural Connecticut, said "they are all politicians and Scripture learned" as a result of the influence of the preachers.

Oliver wrote that the Continental Army's commander-in-chief, George Washington, "was provided with a chaplain who with a stentorian voice and an enthusiastic mania, could incite his army to greater ardor than all the drums of the regiments."

While the churches predominantly backed the revolution, some clergy and laity did not. The largest, most influential church, the Congregationalists or Puritans, overwhelmingly supported independence, as did the nonestablishment bodies of Presbyterians and Baptists.

So did most of the laity of the large southern establishment, the Anglican (Episcopal) church, which also contributed much of the revolution's leadership, including Washington, Patrick Henry, James Madison and, nominally, Jefferson and Franklin. But most Anglican clergy, bound by a pledge of loyalty to the king, opposed the war, as did some members in the middle colonies.

Among the smaller groups, the Quakers and the then few Methodists tended to be anti-war. Jews favored it; Catholics generally were sympathetic; Lutherans mainly held aloof from civil strife, but included elements of strong support. Overall, the heavy preponderance of churches supported the cause.

"The position of the churches in the American Revolution is the thing that set it apart from most of the revolutions the world has known," says historian Charles Forcey. For instance, the subsequent French Revolution of 1789 was anticlerical and toppled into dictatorship.

American thinking in those days was nurtured in principles of free inquiry, the primacy of the individual, open criticism and challenges to authority, in the ideas of British poet John Milton and philosopher John Locke, who had a vastly stronger following in America than in England.

Also, attitudes were honed by the Protestant Reformation teachings of the "priesthood of all believers," full access to an open Bible and thinking for oneself. The Protestant disposition meant viewing the kings with suspicion. Tribal memories of persecution strengthened the hostility.

Thomas Paine, whose "Common Sense" served as a clarion call to independence, said the "event that served more than any other to break the first link in this long chain of despotic ignorance is that known by the name of the Reformation by Luther."

For the Puritans, as for the Biblical Israelites of old, God was the only true monarch. No man could be more than a contingent agent, and to God, the humblest slave equalled the mightiest prince in worth. Calvinist views prevailing among the colonists held God in such awesome majesty that they feared no emperor nor king.

British statesman Edmund Burke, unsuccessfully advising conciliation with the colonists, reported in 1775 that they "are Protestants, and that of the kind which is the most adverse to all implicit subjection of mind and opinion."

In the Biblical idea of "covenant" government common among them, God and men were bound, like Abraham of old, to a "covenant" or contractual relationship of mutual responsibilities. Applied to government, if rulers proved faithless in duty, the "covenant" was broken and the people obliged to replace it.

Colonial preaching generated an attitude that resisting Britain was a "sacred duty."

While only a few Roman Catholics lived in America at the time — about 22,000 in a population of 3.5 million — the church's laity generally backed the revolution. They included Charles Carroll, a signer of the Declaration of Independence who risked much by his stand since he was one of the wealthiest men in the colonies.

His cousin, John Carroll, a leading priest, friend of Benjamin Franklin and believer in the revolutionary cause, became the first American Catholic bishop in 1790. As archbishop of Baltimore, he advocated church home-rule processes, including election of bishops, and cooperation with other Christians — reform ideas that have only lately emerged in world Catholicism.

"Thanks to the genuine spirit of Christianity, the United States have banished intolerance from their system of government," he wrote in 1787, commending the U.S. Constitution's stand for religious liberty.

American Jews also were few at the time of the Revolution, only about 6,000 of them, with the largest settlement of 500 in Charleston, S.C. But some were early colonists, handfuls of them in the mid-1600s in New England, New York and Newport, R.I.

About 100 Jews fought in the revolution and others played important roles, including Jewish banker Haym Salomon who joined the "Sons of Liberty" and who consumed his personal fortune keeping the fledgling continental government and army out of bankruptcy.

Blacks numbered about 500,000 at the time, the first 20 brought as "indentured servants" in 1619. Washington authorized enlistment of blacks and about 5,000 fought in the Continental Army of 300,000.

A black American, Crispus Attucks, was among the first five Americans killed in the Boston massacre. Three blacks fought at Bunker Hill and in the battle of Rhode Island, an all-black regiment repelled successive assaults by an overwhelming force of Hessian troops.

But the independence principle — that "all men are created equal" — wasn't applied to blacks for nearly another century, although many of the founding fathers raised their voices against slavery.

Besides enlisting blacks, Washington had also ordered chaplains attached to each regiment, as authorized by the Continental Congress. Washington, who strongly held that religion was essential to morale both in civil and military life, said in his July 9, 1776, order for the military chaplaincy:

"The blessings and protection of Heaven are at all times necessary, but especially in times of public distress and danger."

One account relates that in the army's winter at Valley Forge, with the tattered troops discouraged, low on food and clothes and with 10 per cent of them deserters, Washington was seen one day, kneeling in the snow in prayer, his horse tied to a nearby tree.

Pioneer bishops moved with western frontier

(Seventh of a Series)
By DAVID POLING

The westward development of the Christian church in America belonged to the men and women who mixed dedication with adventure, nerve with theology. There are many who could be identified as bearing this motivation in their personality but the best known were on the frontier a hundred years ago — Juan Bautista Lamy, Archbishop of Santa Fe, and Sheldon Jackson, Presbyterian pioneer known as "The Bishop of All Beyond."

At age 37, Bishop Lamy took charge of the vast Catholic diocese that stretched from Colorado to Mexico, Texas to California. By foot and horseback he ministered to a mountain and desert kingdom. Working among Anglo, Spanish and Indian, he spoke in four languages the message of love and reconciliation. Nearly a half-century of his leadership saw a great transformation in the Southwest: The creation of nearly 200 parishes, the establishment of schools, colleges, a hospital and an orphanage.

In 1889, the year of his death, a summer auction for charity was held in Santa Fe. Paul Horgan records that five thousand shrubs, vines and young trees were ready for transplanting from the Bishop's garden. He loved the land as well as the people.

Sheldon Jackson patrolled a territory of Western prairie for the church, beginning new congregations from Iowa to New Mexico and then heading for his great achievement in Alaska. By 1877 the whale and seal herds had been destroyed by overharvesting zeal of white settlers. Jackson realized that the gospel could hardly be good news when people were starving and life broken by disease, slavery and lawlessness.

Jackson's first move was to import reindeer from Siberia, personally bartering for 16 in 1891. Following that success he got himself appointed as the United States General Agent for Education and tackled the literacy problem of the territory. Like Lamy, the "Bishop of All Beyond" established churches (520), schools and clinics and loved the land, the sky and the far horizon. They marked the Western Hemisphere with their trails and tears, loving people and believing that it really was a nation under God. (David Poling's latest book, "Songs of Faith, Signs of Hope," Word Inc., covers 200 years of American religious music. His sermon, "The Last Fraud," is included in "The Gift of Easter," edited by Floyd Thatcher.)

Springtime heralds renewal of life, faith

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The air turns warmer, brighter now. Scents of green freshen the earth and under the sun, roots stir, the sap flows again and buds burst on the branches of the great elms. It's the childhood of the year, the season of the robin's song, of life renewed, the springtime of nature and also of faith.

It's the time of the happy holidays of the Jewish Passover and the Christian Easter.

Both celebrate deliverance from human bondage. Both proclaim the triumph of the victimized. Both signify victory over adversity. Both ring with joy and hope.

"Sing to the Lord, for he has triumphed gloriously," goes a Jewish Passover hymn, marking the freeing of the Israelites from slavery in Egypt. "The Lord is my strength and my song and has become my salvation."

"He is risen!" resounds the good news of the Christian Easter, marking the resurrection of the crucified Christ. "He that believeth in Me, through he were dead, yet shall he live."

Redemption is seen in both events. Both are regarded as manifestations of divine truth in human history. Both herald the overcoming of evil and injustice. Both tell of travail and conquest over it.

"By His great mercy, we have been born anew to a living hope..." says the apostle John. "This is the victory that overcomes the world."

"Praise the Lord!" goes a hallel of Passover, a song from the Psalms. "He raises the poor from the dust, and lifts the needy from the ash heap... Our God is merciful... He has delivered my soul from death."

The week-long Passover observance began on Thursday with the sharing of the seder, a ritual meal recalling the ancient deliverance from tyranny and affliction, summoning believers to continued dedication to that God-given freedom.

"We were Pharaoh's slaves in Egypt, but the Lord our God rescued us," goes the "Haggadah," the retelling of the old story. It first disclosed to the Biblical people what God is like, that He saves, frees, cares for the lowly, redeems the lost. "With a mighty hand... the Lord brought us out... from the house of bondage."

It was a seder that Jesus shared in his last supper before his crucifixion. "I have earnestly desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer," he told His apostles. The meal, in new form, became the central rite of Christian worship, Holy Communion, signifying the divine presence with humanity.

Both Passover and Easter focus on luminous personalities, Moses who led the exodus from Egypt, and on Jesus. Both faiths are drawn from happenings, from events and experiences, in the conviction that the only realistic understanding of God comes as it is shown in human history.

That is the Biblical outlook and method, a record of earthly occurrences in which God's participation is perceived and by which He defines His will and ways to people, as they are able to grasp it.

EASTER REVEALS THE TRIUMPH OF LIFE OVER DEATH

The beautiful story of Easter contains many messages of hope that have enriched the lives of all those who observe it. The dramatic events of the most memorable weekend in all history portray the victory of right over wrong and joy over sorrow, as well as the forgiveness of a deed so terrible that even the ruling magistrate would claim no responsibility for it. It is a time for reflection as well as rejoicing; and if the Son of God died to atone for our sins and to provide proof of immortality, the least we can do is try to be worthy of that sacrifice by improving our lives and by attending the Church of our choice; not only on Easter, but every Sunday throughout the year.

"Why couldn't you have just said you left your apple on the hot plate, instead of 'There's been a core meltdown'?"

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE G-659: Jack J., aged 35, is the feuding husband whose daughter Janet was fearful of an impending divorce.

"Dr. Crane," Jack began, "my wife certainly is a changed woman since her interview with you."

"In fact, she has made as radical a change as people do who are 'converted' at a Billy Graham revival!"

"We used to quarrel a lot, because she was so concerned about her household duties that she ignored our romantic life."

"She'd stall around at bedtime, apparently hoping I'd go to sleep before she arrived."

"But if I'd open one eye when she came into our bedroom, then she'd grab her nightie and rush into the bathroom so she wouldn't put any erotic ideas into my head."

"So I'd grumble and chew her out till our home was unhappy for both of us and also for our daughter Janet."

"Then something happened to Mabel, for she began to act kittenish and seductive."

"She bought what you call a diaphanous nightie and used perfume at bedtime, whereas she did so previously only when we were going to church or some social event."

"Well, I was so delighted with her, that I apologized for my past quarreling and began to protest my love."

"Now our home life has completely changed and I look forward with delight to getting home at night from the office."

"We are a jolly family, in which our daughter shares our contentment."

"Mabel admitted she had deliberately turned on her show of boudoir enthusiasm as an act, at least the first few weeks."

"But now it is no longer an act, for she is happy and relaxed, instead of always being fretful over the kitchen chores and the laundry."

Heed Shakespeare
"All the world's a stage," said Shakespeare, "and we're but actors thereon."

Happy wives have merely learned to be superb boudoir actresses, relying on our psychological maxim which states:

"If you go through the proper motions, you will soon begin to feel the corresponding emotions!"

Instead of being a quarrelsome, actress, why not deliberately take a new role?

"Act the way you'd like to be," is another psychological law, "and soon you'll be the way you act!"

Notice how this axiom was demonstrated by Mabel when she started playing the role of a happy, seductive wife.

Though it was a pose at the outset, she soon got caught up in her own role.

And that's true on the theatrical stage, for good actresses soon begin to feel the role they are playing before the cameras.

"Dr. Crane," many divorced women have protested, "if I had used the psychology you stress in your 'Worry Clinic,' I'd never have been separated from my husband."

"For I was trying to remake my husband into my concept of what I wanted, instead of adapting to the basic nature of men."

If you select quality matrimonial prospects at the outset, then you should NEVER need a divorce!

So send for my 200-point "Tests For Husbands and Wives," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg., Melott, Ind. 47958, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets).

The Doctor Says: Was it diabetic coma or hypoglycemic shock?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB—Recently in a doctor's waiting room I witnessed a lady said to be in diabetic shock. My husband and son-in-law are both diabetics. Is there any way to predict such a seizure? What can be done as a preventive?

Can you give us a few pointers on this neglected subject? What measures can be used to successfully resuscitate a victim of diabetic shock or coma?

DEAR READER—Whether you are talking about diabetic coma or hypoglycemic shock from too much insulin is of extreme importance. When a person is unconscious it might be very difficult for a person not skilled in medicine to make the distinction.

Diabetic coma is associated with a very high blood sugar level. The elimination of sugar in large amounts of urine leads to a marked decrease in blood volume causing dehydration and shock. About the only thing a non-medical person can do to help these individuals is to leave them lying flat, keep them warm, make sure that they have an airway to breathe through and try to get expert medical help as quickly as possible.

The only successful treatment for these people is to increase the blood volume immediately with fluids through a needle in the vein. Skilled medical personnel give much larger amounts of insulin than is commonly used in the daily management of that individual's diabetes and take whatever measures necessary to restore the chemical balance of the body.

Diabetic coma is often caused by stopping taking insulin. For example, some diabetics have the idea that if they don't eat they don't need to take insulin. It's true that your insulin's standardized to your diet but even if you are eating nothing the body will be converting protein to sugar and causing a high blood sugar level unless some insulin is taken.

Another frequent cause for diabetic coma is the added demands imposed by an infection such as an abscess, pneumonia or some other infectious process.

Some diabetics get too much insulin and go into insulin shock. This is caused by the blood sugar being very low. It causes the symptoms of hypoglycemia induced by pouring out of adrenaline from the adrenal glands. This includes the sweating and the pallor and the shaking. These individuals need glucose or sugar. If they are conscious enough to drink orange juice with some sugar in it that's fine. If they are unconscious then intravenous glucose is necessary and will eliminate the symptoms in very short order.

Again, unless you know which you are dealing with, it's wise not to meddle but get expert medical attention as quickly as possible. A diabetic who has a severe insulin reaction should see his doctor right away even if he recovers by taking orange juice with sugar or other sweeteners. There may need to be some adjustments in regulating the insulin to the diet and daily activities.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

The mines on Copper Hill in East Granby, Conn., were reportedly the first copper mines developed in British America. The first company to work the mines was established in 1707. "Granby coppers" were coins in common use for many years after 1737. In 1773 the mine was made a prison for the colony called Newgate, and Tory prisoners were confined there during the Revolution. The World Almanac notes.

Tampico pool

The largest 9-ball pool tournament ever in Northern Illinois will be held by Cal and Mary Triggs, owners of the Tampico Lounge, in Tampico. The spring invitational classic tournament will carry a total purse of $1500 and be played over a three-day period, April 23-25.

Players from four states are expected to compete for the $500 first prize from a field of 32 shooters. The invitational classic will begin April 23, with the finals being played April 25. The tournament will pay prize money through the first eight places.

Dick Mosher, of Peoria, current Tampico Lounge 9-ball champion, will return to defend his title in the spring classic. Outstanding Dixon players expected to try for the championship are Ed Long, Tom Smith, Kayo Stevens, Don Hillard and Randy Williams.

The three-day pool tournament is open to anyone. Entries may be called to Cal Triggs, 815-438-2015. Competition tables will be furnished by Blackhawk Music Co., Inc., Sterling.

Miller is champion

STERLING—This past weekend's boys 14-and-under tennis tournament held at Westwood saw Greg Miller of Hoffman Estates and Dave Biermann of Sterling fight it out in the finals with Miller the winner. Greg pulled from a five-to-one deficit to beat Dave 7-5 in the second set. Greg had won the first set 6-4. Tournament Director Louis Dimock said "Greg has really improved. He's practicing regularly and traveling to tournaments all the time. It really showed when he was way down in the second set and then fought his way back, winning six straight games in a row. His tournament experience really showed."

Sterling's Dave Biermann had a good tournament, beating the third seed in the semis, Tom Barth of Milwaukee, 6-4 and 6-2. Last week's 12-and-under winner, Doug Piolet of Aurora, played his usual game of consistency and accuracy and lost in the semifinals to Greg Miller, 7-6 and 6-0. Doug beat the fourth seed, John Losito of Aurora, in three sets to earn his right to play in the semifinals.

In the consolation tournament Ed Schaefer of Hartland, Wis., defeated Barrat Powers of Oak Park in the finals 6-1 and 6-1. Both players were unseeded. Powers defeated the number-two seed, Brent Bernardi of Rockford, in the semis, and Schaefer defeated Barry Hahn of Sterling in the semis. Barry had defeated the number-one seed, Tom Paul of Aurora, in the quarterfinals to make it to the semis.

This upcoming weekend the final two tournaments of the spring will bring the girls 14s and 16s to Sterling to battle for the trophies.

Mets beat Cubs

Dave "King Kong" Kingman hasn't leaped over any tall buildings yet, but he has learned to hit baseballs over them.

The rangy 6-foot-6, 210-pound New York strongman unloaded two herculean home runs Thursday, the second a three-run blast in the ninth inning, powering the Mets to a 10-8 victory over the stunned Chicago Cubs.

Both homers went out of Wrigley Field and gave Kingman a season's total of four, all tape-measure blasts. Although three of them were hit in Chicago, Kingman said he didn't think he would like to play there regularly.

"I don't think I'd like it because I'm too home run conscious here," said Kingman, who also is nicknamed Sky King.

Kingman sent his first homer rocketing out of Wrigley Field Wednesday, a drive that reportedly traveled more than 600 feet. Thursday, he drilled a two-run homer over the left centerfield wall in the second inning off Bill Bonham. Then, with the Mets trailing 8-7 in the ninth, he followed singles by John Milner and Del Unser with a tremendous smash over the left field wall off Tom Detore, the same pitcher he had victimized Wednesday.

"He (Detore) had given me an inside fast ball the previous day and he came back with the same pitch," said the Mets' muscle man. "Yes, I was surprised because I was looking for something else. I just couldn't let it go by."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Atlanta Braves battered the Cincinnati Reds 10-5, the Pittsburgh Pirates trounced the St. Louis Cardinals 9-3 and the Montreal Expos whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 8-5. Braves 10, Reds 5 Atlanta's victory, triggered by Jerry Royster's four hits and three runs batted in apiece by Ken Henderson and Lee Lacy, stopped Cincinnati's four-game winning streak and was the Braves' first triumph over the Reds after 12 losses since June 17, 1975.

Knuckleballing Phil Niekro went the distance for Atlanta, scattering 10 hits and striking out nine.

Kishwaukee batting attack humbles Sauk Valley 16-8

By JIM FOX

Telegraph Sports Writer
SAUK VALLEY — The Kishwaukee Kougars struck for 13 runs in the first two innings and then withstood a determined Sauk Valley comeback attempt as the visitors slugged the Redmen 16-8, here, Thursday afternoon in Arrowhead conference junior college baseball action. The nightcap of the doubleheader was canceled as persistent rain made a second game impossible to get in.

Rico Wells, (0-3) was the victim of the hard hitting Kougars in the opening frames of the conference contest. Wells hurled one inning, giving up nine runs on five hits before being knocked out of the box after facing three batters in the second inning.

In the first Mike Plamer led off with a sharp single to left before Tim Pieroni powered a Wells fast ball over the centerfield fence, some 375 feet from home plate, to push two runs across. An error, a safety and a hit batter, one of three batters Wells plastered in the first inning, loaded the bases with only one out. Right fielder Mike Dolder smashed a three run triple to right center field to make it 5-0. Dolder carried the sixth and final run of the disastrous inning across moments later as he stole home.

Sauk went down in order in the bottom of the first and it looked like it was going to be a long game for the hosts. Seven additional runs in the second by the Kougars did not lighten this thought.

After giving up three runs Wells was relieved by Jim Baumgart, who did not have a whole lot better luck against the hot hitting visitors. Kishwaukee got to Baumgart for four runs on three hits, on a two-run double and a two-run triple. At the end of two complete innings of play the lopsided score read Kishwaukee 13, Sauk 0.

Sauk finally tallied two runs in the third inning on a pair of hits. Doug Queckboerner led off the frame with a single and advance to third on a base hit by Tom Houzenga. Tom Cain followed with a wicked shot right back at Kougars pitcher Joe Jordan (4-1) who fumbled the chance and then threw it away at first allowing Queckboerner to cross home plate with the Redmen's initial run. Catcher Morrey Remmers bulletted a routine grounder to the shortstop that went right through the fielder's legs and Houzenga jogged home.

Sauk made it semi-close in the fourth as it tacked on five runs and pulled within six after trailing by 13. Doug Brann started the inning with a base hit. One out later Queckboerner reached on an error that sent Brann across. On the same play Queckboerner went all the way to third as the catcher muffed the throw in from the outfield.

After a fielder's choice and a Brad Pyse single Remmers chased two Redmen home on a long double to left center. Remmers moved up to third on the throw to the plate and was run triple to right center field to make it 5-0. Dolder carried the sixth and final run of the disastrous inning across moments later as he stole home.

CHICAGO (AP) — "We played a hell of a game tonight," said Montreal coach Scotty Bowman after the Canadiens defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 2-1 to take a 3-0 edge in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup quarter-final series.

"In fact," Bowman said Thursday night, "we played a perfect game. We had a lot of good chances and Tony Esposito stopped us. But it was a big game. It was a difference of two games. We lead 3-0. If we had lost, our lead would have been cut to 2-1."

Leafs win 5-4

By The Associated Press
Toronto Maple Leafs' Coach Red Kelly called it a miracle, but the numerous power play opportunities presented by Philadelphia appeared to be the prime reason for the Leafs' 5-4 victory over the Flyers in their Stanley Cup contest Thursday night.

"It was a miracle to beat that team," Kelly said after the Leafs beat Philadelphia for the first time in 20 regular-season and playoff games between the two clubs.

The triumph left the Flyers leading 2-1 in the best-of-seven National Hockey League quarter-final series.

The Flyers took a record 28 penalties for a total of 87 minutes, giving the Leafs plenty of power play opportunities. Toronto used them to score all of their goals: by rookie Scott Garland, Claire Alexander, Errol Thompson, Ian Turnbull and Stan Weir.

The Canadiens led 1-0 on a goal by Yvon Lambert at 5:21 of the second period and it appeared that it would stand up. But with 2:21 left in the game, Pit Martin scored a goal for the Hawks to tie it up.

Now it seemed the game would be headed for overtime. But Guy LeFleur, the National Hockey League's leading scorer in the regular season, scored with 13 seconds left in the game to demoralize the Black Hawks and give the Canadiens their three-game edge in the series.

Montreal can close out the Black Hawks with a victory Sunday night.

"We were in the game all the way," said Chicago coach Billy Reay. "They had all the scoring chances but it was only 1-0 with a little more than two minutes to play and we had them tied with hardly any time left to play."

But the Canadiens could not be denied and Steve Shutt and LeFleur teamed up for the winning goal.

"I found myself in the right corner with the puck and my back to the Hawk net," said Shutt. "When I TURNED AROUND I saw two Hawks standing in front of the net, but LeFleur was all alone. It was just a matter of a simple pass."

LeFleur explained: "Three guys were on Shutt. I was all alone in the corner. I just put it to Esposito's right."

Neither Bowman nor Reay felt that the Canadiens were sitting on their one-goal lead.

"We have only given up two goals in three games because we have not given them too many chances," said Bowman.

"We have been checking very well. In the end, however, we had the good guy in front of the net."

The good guy in front of the net has been Ken Dryden who kicked out 30 Chicago shots Thursday night and has allowed but two goals in the three games of the current series.

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, April 16, the 107th day of 1976. There are 259 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1917, Communist leader Vladimir Lenin returned to Russia after years of exile to assume leadership of the Russian revolutionary movement.

On this date:
In 1521, Martin Luther arrived at Worms, Germany, after being summoned to appear before the Diet to justify his attack on the Catholic Church.

In 1789, George Washington left Mount Vernon for his inauguration as the first president of the United States.

In 1862, Napoleon III declared war against the Mexican leader Juarez.

In 1906, the Pacific cable was completed between the United States and China.

In 1947, more than 500 people perished in fires and explosions at Texas City, Tex., after a French freighter loaded with nitrate blew up.

In 1967, in South Vietnam, a U.S. bombing mistake cost the lives of 14 Vietnamese at a village housing defectors from the Communist side.

Ten years ago: The U.S., Britain and West Germany established a new group to deal with problems involving France's withdrawal from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Today in History

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon declared that U.S. air raids against North Vietnam would not be halted until Hanoi freed all American prisoners of war.

Today's birthdays: Charlie Chaplin is 87. Composer and conductor Henry Mancini is 52. Thought for today: He is not only idle who does nothing, but he is idle who might be better employed — Socrates, Greek philosopher, 468 B.C. to 399 B.C.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, General Artemus Ward expressed the fears of many Bostonians when he warned that the harbor was unprotected and asked: "What would prevent the recently departed British from returning?"
